

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention relates to coating compositions comprising menthol and/or isopulegol and at least one further active ingredient which provide protection to surfaces coated therewith from attachment of various biofouling organisms. These compositions are advantageously used in paint, varnish and sealant formulations.